Headline:
Mainly cloudy but dry on Tuesday with some brighter spells.

Today:
A rather cloudy day for most, but some sunny spells likely at times. Generally dry but cloud may be thick enough to give the odd light shower across western hills later in the day. Maximum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Tonight:
Patchy cloud through the evening and overnight with the odd spot of rain possible. Chilly for most but staying frost free. Minimum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Wednesday:
Largely cloudy with outbreaks of rain at times through Wednesday, heaviest across the western hills. Rain will clear into the afternoon to leave a clearer and colder evening. Maximum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Thursday colder with blustery showers for coastal parts. Into Friday conditions turning very unsettled with rain and strong winds, and these conditions will continue into Saturday after a cold night.
